The jury has evidence that prisoners have been brutally beaten by Jailer McCarver, eon of the Sheriff, and one instance, that of a prisoner named Joe Evans, is cited. He is eaid to have been held down by four of McCarver's assistants, while the jailer beat him unmerciully with a rawhide. Campos at Santiago-The Busin Men to Form Volunteer Com-panies--Gomez Wins a Battle Against Odds.

and Press Leaned-wire Service. NEW YORK, May 10.—A special to the World from Songo, Cuba, says that a World correspondent interviewed Gen. Mawas found in his camp in the forest, a league from Jaragueca and forty miles from Santiago. Gen. Maceo gave out some details of the fight at Hondo Creek, near Guantanamo, in which his brother, Jose Maceo, who is not dead after brother, Jose Maceo, who is not dead after all, had a sharp encounter with 1600 spanish soldiers of Simanceo's regiment, commanded by Lieut.-Col. Bosch. The Spaniards were attacked from ambush. Jose Maceo had 700 followers. The Span-iards admit a loss of sixteen killed and several officers wounded. According to a letter just received by Gen. Maceo from his brother, the Spaniards suffered se-verely. The Cubans used their machetes with deadly effect when the Spanish sols had fired away their ammuniti diers had fired away their ammunition.

Maceo placed his men in position in thickets along the bank of the Hondo, which at that point is a stream about thirty feet wide. Col. Bosch approached early in the morning along the bank of the creek, and, on receiving the fire of the rebels, drew his men into position in a cane field. The firing continued until 1 o'clock. As usual the Spaniards wasted much ammunition and when it was exhausted Jose Maceo charged across the river and cut many down with machetes. One of Maceo's lieutenants, a French halfbreed named Alcide de Verger, rode reckessly to the creek, calling on his men to breed named Alcide de Verger, rode reck-lessly to the creek, calling on his men to use their machetes. A shot from the Bpanish killed the daring man. The Bpanish regulars were aided by 200 volnaters.

Col. Bosch's men withdrew when they had fired away their ammunition. This is a fatal fault of the Spanish. The officers appear to make no effort to prevent the soldiers from banging away as fast as they can. When armed with a swift breechloading magazine riffe it does not take long to throw away the 100 rounds with which each man is provided. Jose Macco was left in his position and he still held it when the steamer left this morning.

It is said that Gamaguaya has been invaded by Gomez, who, with 3000 insurgents besieged Guaymaro on Monday. There were about two thousand Spaniards in the city. After the fighting became disastrous for the besieged, a regiment from Cadiz numbering about twenty-five bundred arrived, attacking the Cubans in the rear.

Fighting was very fierce, but it is asserted that the strategy of Gomez and the valor of the insurgents resulted in a victory, and the regiment from Cadiz, it is said, was cut to pieces. The city, the passengers say, is in possession of the insurgents. The Cuban lose in killed and wounded is put at 700, and the Spanish lose at 3000. Small-pox and yellow fever are very prevalent. Campos is said to be greatly displeased with the situation, and the insurgent leaders are hopeful of another Cabinet crisis, which will require Campos to return to Spain. The Cubans assert that dissatisfaction exists among the troops over the execution of Gallego. This, on account of the fact that Mahey, who was taken to Havana for execution, was not executed, but was decorated with medals for valor.

DETROIT (Mich.) May 10.—A sensational sult, in which an accounting of the Michigan Mutual Life Insurance Company and the gemoval of President Oscar B.

Looker are prayed for, was begun in the Wayne Circuit Court today. The complainants are ex-Vice-President J. W. Dusenberry of this city and others.

Several officers and directors of the company are made party defendants with the president. The bill alleges that for ten years past President Looker has made false statements concerning the company's affairs, reporting the valuation of its real estate, for instance, at a valuation largely in excess of its market value. It is charged that mortgages taken to secure future premiums on life insurance policies have been treated as assets, without any counter-charge, in the accounts of policyhelders or otherwise, also that the reports made to the State Insurance Commissioner have embodied policies which had long since expired.

Various other charges are made against President Looker, to the effect that he assembly before the company's balance in his own interests, and with the intent to defraud the stockholders. An investigation and accounting is prayed for.

sent notices to their associates that they would return 40 per cent. of the money contributed to that issue.

The gross purchase price of the 4-per cent. bonds, issued last February, was in round figures $65,000,000, all of which the syndicate contracted with the government to pay in gold. One-half the amount was to be obtained by the sale of half the to be obtained by the sale of half the bonds abroad, and the remainder by marketing the bonds here. To insure the success of this programme, the two banking houses mentioned, and their associates paid into the treasury at once $32,500,000 in gold. The bonds were sold in due time and the money received therefor from domestic purchasers has remained in the hands of the syndicate managers ever since.

hands of the syndicate's contract its man-since.

Under the syndicate's contract its man-agers were entitled to use all this money until next October, chiefly for the purpose of controlling the market for sterling ev-change. That market has now receded owing to heavy sales of bills against secu-rities sold abroad, to a point that makes it unnecessary for the syndicate to retain all the capital contributed for its opera-tions since the return of a part of the amount. It is understood that payments amount. It is understood that payments will be made in checks, although members of the syndicate furnished gold when the became parties to the government-bond operation.

MAKING IT PAY NEW YORK, May 10.—The sum of $12,-NEW YORK, May 10.—The sum of $12,000,000 in cash will soon be distributed government-loan syndicate. This is payment of 40 per cent. of the $30,000,000 of

According to well-informed bank officers in Wall street, everything is going

TOPEKA (Kan.) May 10.—A complaint charging Gov. E. N. Morrill with having obtained money under false pretenses was filed in the office of Justice of the Peace Grover today. It is sworn to by G. W. Peters, a storekeeper of the State pentituary, and contains two counts.

One charge is that the Governor signed a voucher authorising the Treasurer of the State to issue a warrant of $166 to J. L. Bristow, and the other is that he signed a voucher authorising a warrant in favor of Charles Hull for $75, and that the vouchers both set forth that they were for services rendered to the State.

Peters alleges that the amounts nam it was the duty of the officers of the law to make a thorough investigation of the case, and if Gov. Morrill should be guilty he should be punished.

Justice Grover said, soon after the complaint had been filed, that he would not issue a warrant for Gov. Morrill's arrest until he had been directed to do so by County Attorney Safford. Safford, when seen, said that there was no evidence of faise pretenses shown in the allegation. It is not at all likely that the warrant will be served on the Governor.

SILVER AND GOLD RATIO.

A second-day lecture opens with an act of how the Chicago newspapers resed the Brat day's lecture. The Times Inter Ocean, it says, published garacocounts of it; the Tribune and Herwere editorially loaded with abuse.

"Coin" begins by defining what was, or should be, the ratio between silver gold. He is interrupted by Lyman a president of the First National of Chicago, who, as the book says, the "top of the heap," and who does be financial thinking for the business of Chicago. In an illustration, the age Chicago business man is repred as having "wheels in als head," Mr. Gage, is represented at the emostring, setting the wheels in motion. Gage wants to know how it is possito have any fixed ratio between two as constantly varying in the quants.

tity of each produced. Mr. "Coin" again resorts to the blackboard, illustrating his unswer by a picture of two hands, each drawing a cord through a hole in a beam of wood, with blocks on the ends of the cords. The hands drawing on the cords, he explains, represent the power of unlimited demand; the beam represents the price at which the demand stops, and the two little blocks on the ends of the cords, as close up against the beam as they can be got, represent silver and gold. If the hand on the silver cord should relax its pull the wood block, representing silver would drop down. The unlimited demand for the other metal (gold) was continued. The whole disturbance since then, he adds, has come from the demand being taken away from silver. Mr. Gage, the lecturer eays, resumed his east, having nothing more to say.

The existing single gold standard is reco walked away in a thoughtful mood.

POUNDS POLITICAL ECONOMISTS.

The third day's lecture is reported to open with a larger attendance and increased interest, and "Mr. Coin" is warmly congratulated by his many admirers. What the demonetization of silver in 1873 led up to is depicted in a series of illustrations, showing the increase in the purchasing power of gold and the decrease in all property valuations, resulting in a general bankruptcy, everything, as shown in the tenth and last illustration going up in emoke.

The fourth day is largely devoted to answering questions propounded by political economists, relivond magnates, labor magnates, such as the master workman of the Knights of Labor, and others, in which some questions put by Prof. Laughlin, head of the school of political economy in the Chicago University, are made to look ridiculous. The lecturer cites the professor as an instance of one whose mental faculties and views on political economy had trained with his salary, and who was at once a study and an object lesson. "Combined capital," the lecturer said, "all over the world had been using the professors of political economy to instruct the minds of young men to a belief in the gold standard."

H. H. Kohisaat, late principal proprietor of the Inter Ocean (now owner of the Times-Heraid,) was another seeker after information. He claimed that the threat to reduce or abolish the tariff had more to do with the hard times than anything else, and that, although since listening to "Mr. Coin's" lecture he recognized the damage demonstituation had done, he still thought the tariff a very important question. "Mr. Coin's after straightening out Mr. Kohlsaat's ideas on the tariff, turns an ear to Misyor Hopkins of Chicago, who is also in the dark on certain matters of importance to himself and the community at large.

BULLS AND BEARS.

The fifth day is described as a day of the dark on certain matters of importance to himself and the community at large.

BULLS AND BEARS.

The fifth day is described as a day of bulls and bears, gold representing the bulls and commodities the bears, the only peculiarity of the pit being, as the lecturer pointed out, that the bulls were everifiatingly on top. He resorted again to the blackboard to illustrate his statement, drawing four columns of figures, the years from 1872 to 1893, and the values of a bushel of wheat, a pound of cotton and an ounce of silver, for the purpose of showing that the decline in the price of wheat and cotton each succeeding year kept step and was, apparently, due to the corresponding decline in silver. Some of the illustrations of the book in this lecture are very amusing. Among others is one of a "armer dining at a first-class Chicago restaurant, and stacked up against his chair are bushels of wheat which he has brought in with him to pay for the meal.

The sixth and last lecture is mainly a sunwindry of those previously given, some stress being build on the fact that all the gold in the world could be put in a cube of twenty-two feet. This fact is introduced for the purpose of further illustrating the statement contained in a previous lecture that & would always be a comparatively easy task for the great money brokers of the world to corner gold, and that, per courte, silver should be and was destined to be the money of the people, and that it would be as easy for the gold bugs to corner the people as it would be for them to corner their money, provided their money was silver.

On the last page is a picture of Danke's gate to Hades, bearing the legend, "Gold Shandard," and immediately beneath it the well-known lines, "All ye who enter here leave hope behind."

This plausfile and flippant financial schoolteacher is now being raked fore and aft by able opponents of free silver. Below is the first installment of a bugle bast from Horace White of New York:

"COIN'S FINANCIAL FOOL." BULLS AND BEARS.

"COIN'S FINANCIAL FOOL." Some Spicy Comments by a Prominent Publicist. inent Publicist.

Under the above heading, Horace White, editor of the New York Evening Post, and one of the most prominent writers and newspaper men in this country, has written a series of criticisms on the work referred to in the first part of this article, Coin's Financial School." Mr. White's comments will be read, with much interest, the more so as they represent the sound-money side of the question at sessue. As veying to the reader's mind the idea that a penny in 1455 was the same thing as a penny now; (2) it is false by conveying the idea that the price quoted was the average price at that period in the world's history; (3) it is false in giving Adam Smith as surbority for the statement; (4) it is false in conveying the idea that the quantity of money in the world was the cause of the low price of wheat in 1455.

The first thing in the quoted paragraph is a statement that at the Christian era there was a plentiful supply of money as compared with the later period. Now, we can show, on the best possible authority, that the rate of wages for laboring men at this happy period was 1 penny per day. See Mathew xx, 1-16, which tells us that a certain householder went out early in the morning to hire laborers for his vineyard, and that when he had agreed with them for a penny a day he sent them into his vineyard. They were all satisfied and nothing happened to disturb their serenity until they found that some others, who had been hired later in the day, were also receiving a penny.

nothing happened to disture their screentry until they found that some others, who had been hired later in the day, were also receiving a penny.

We need not concern ourselves with the sequel, since the only point important to our purpose is that the rate of wages at this affluent period was 1 penny per day.

A penny in 1455 was not the same thing as a penny now. The penny was originally the two hundred and fortieth part of a pound weight of silver, but monarchs had the habit of cutting pieces off the pound of silver and coining the remainder, into 240 pennies, putting the difference into their own pockets. In this way the value of the penny was constantly declining till the reign of Elizabeth. In 1455 the weight of the silver penny was twice as great as it was in the time of Adam Smith, a fact carefully suppressed by "Coin."

The other three falsities may be disposed of in short order. The prices of wheat quoted at the end of book I of Smith's "Wealth of Nations" are not given on his own authority. They are quoted as those of Fleetwood, and we are cautioned by Adam Smith, for various reasons, not to attach too much importance to them. Thus, referring to previous writers who had taken Fleetwood's tables as a basis, he says:

"Thirdly, they seem to have been misled, too, by the very low price at which wheat was sometimes sold in very ancient times, and to have imagined that as its lowest price was then wuch lower. They might have found, however, that in those ancient times its highest price was fully as much above as its lowest price was below anything that had been known in later times. Thus in 1270 Fleetwood gives us two prices of the quarter of wheat. The one is f4 16 shillings of the money of those times.

have found, however, that in those ancient times its highest price was fully as much above as its lowest price was below anything that had been known in later times. Thus in 1270 Fleetwood gives us two prices of the quarter of wheat. The one is id 16 shillings of the money of those times, equal to fil 8 shillings of that of the present; the other is id 8 shillings, equal to fil 9 shillings of our present money. No price can be found in the end of the fitteenth, or beginning of the sixteenth century, which approaches to the extravagance of these.

"The price of corn, though at all times liable to variation, varies most in those turbulent and disorderly societies, in which the interruption of all commerce and communication hinders the planty of one part of the country from relieving the society of another. In the disorderly state of England under the Plantagenets, who governed it from about the middle of the twelfth till toward the end of the fifteenth century, one district might be in plenty, while another at no great distance, by having its crop destroyed either by some accident of the seasons, or by the incursion of some relighboring baron, might be suffering all the horrors of a famine, and yet if the lands of some hostile lord were interposed between them one might not be able to give the least assistance to the other. Under the vigorous administration of the Tudors, who governed England during the latter part of the fifteenth and through the whole of the sixteenth century, no baron was powerful enough to dare to disturb the public security."

Finally Fleetwood's tables give the prices of wheat in 1453 at 5s 4d, and in 1457 at 7s 8d per quarter, the intermediate year 1455 being is 2d per quarter, all being the money of that period, not of Adam Smith's period.

"Coin" wants to make it appear that the price of wheat in 1653 at 5s 4d, and in 1457 at 7s 8d per quarter, the intermediate year 1455 being is 2d per quarter, all being the money of that period of the interest of rule in the adjoining towns. I have bee things: also that there are several different kinds of units, as an unit of number, a unit of length, a unit of relate, a unit of length, a unit of relate, a unit of length, and coined at the said mint coins of gold, aliver and copper of the following denominations, value and descriptions, viz: Eagle—each to be of the value of tendollars or units, and four-eighths of a grain of pure, or 170 grains of standard gold. (Half eagles, and quarter eagles of corresponding weights and fineness.) Dollars or units—a cach to be of the value of the Spanish milled dolar as the same is now current, and to contain 371 grains, and four-sixteenths of a grain of pure, or 416 grains of standard, sliver."

The word "unit" as used in the law meant a unit of number. Coin wants us to understand that it meant a unit of units of units. The units of units posing a cunning play upon words. "Coin" wants to make it appear that a superiority was given to the silver dollar in 1792 which it retained till 1873, and hence that a peculiar sacredness attaches to it, which is simply false. A superiority in law did attach to it before 1792, as we have said, but it was expressly taken away by the act of that year, which first established the mint and colmage of the United States.

CHAPTER III—ANOTHER FORGERY.

At this point in the exercises we read that "Young Medill" starts up (there is that "Young Medili" starts up (there is no such person as young Medili,) and wants to know why it was that a great many foreign silver coins circulated in this country at their value as buflion before the year 1860. "Coin" has an answer ready for him. "It had all been made legal tender," he says, "by act cf Congress. We needed more silver than we had, and Congress passed laws making all foreign silver coins legal tender in this country." It is one of the axioms of the silverites that coins circulate by reason of their legal tender faculty and not of their netallic value. This is a fundamental proposition in "Coin's Financial School." Hence, when confronted by the fact that upwards of two hundred different silver coins circulated in this country prior to 1860, he must needs tell a lie to account for something which really knocks the bottom out of his whole system.

"Coin" quotes the law, which he says sustains his statement.

the coin chart manuals published in-New York at that time. It should be mentioned also that new Spanish dollars, fresh from the mint, circulated at one hundred and one cents each, and are so quoted on coinchart manuals of that period. In other words, they passed for one cent more than their legal-tender value. Why was this? Because their bullion value was more than a dollar. But the coins of France and Spain did not circulate here more readily than those of Germany, Austria, Holland, Belgium and Denmark, which were not legal tender.

The point is that this writer, pretending to give people facts which few persons are familiar with, says that the precious metals circulate not by reason of their value as bullion, but because of their value as bullion, but because of their legal-tender quality, and when asked how it happened that a great variety of forcign coins circulated here before 1860 at their bullion value, he says that they were all legal tender, and to support this proposition he misquotes a law of Congress. In order to give due solemnity to this and other falsehoods with which the book abounds, he prints next after his titlepage this text of scripture:

"I thank thee, O Lord of heaven and earth, because Thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent and hast revealed them unto babes.—Matthew, chapter xi, verse 26."

Nobody who had not reached mature years could have concocted a forgery of this recondite and misleading character.

Nobody who had not reached mature years could have concoted a forgery of this recondite and misleading character.

MORE OF THE SAME KIND.

Directly after the pretended quotation from the law making all foreign silver coins legal tender, on p. 10, "Coin" speaks of a scarcity of silver." On account of the scarcity of silver." On account of the scarcity of silver." he says, "both Jefferson and Jackson recommended that dimes, quarters and halves would serve the people better than dollars, until more silver builion could be obtained. This was the reason why only about eight million of the one hundred and five millions of silver were coined into dollars."

This is pure fiction. Neither Jefferson nor Jackson ever made any such recommendation. Nor was there any "scarcity of silver" at that time. The reason why silver dollars were not coined by our mint between 1805 and 1836 has already been stated.

Next after this false statement about Jefferson and Jackson come the following: "During this struggle to get more silver," continued "Coin," "France made a bid for it by establishing a ratio of 15½ to 1, and as our ratio was 16 to 1, this made silver in France worth $1.03½ when exchanged for gold, and as gold would answer the same purpose as silver for money, it was found that our silver was leaving µs."

The French ratio of 15½ to 1 was established in 1875, and was merely re-enacted to 1803. Our ratio of 15 to 1 was established in 1792, and that of 16 to 1 in 1834. So France "made a bid" for our silver seven years before we had any ratio or any coinage at all, and forty-rine years before we had the ratio that "Coin" says enabled her to get it away from us. Of course, she did this in the spirit of prophecy, or with the eye of faith. For this reason, says "Coin," "It was found that our silver was leaving us." The debates in our Corgress on the act of 1834 furnish a better reason. Our fathers wants@to-get rid of their heavy and bulky silver money and to bring gold in its place, and they purposely adopted a ratio which would h

There was foud cries for order, but Dr. Tanner ignored them.
"Is the time come at last," he continued, "when a member of the rolay family, who has been drawing the people's money too long, is going to retire?"

The second question increased the confusion. Shouts of "Name him" came from the Conservative side and the Speaker rose with his eyes fixed upon the Irish member. Dr. Tanner remained standing.
"Are these remarks in order?" asked George Bartley, Conservative.
"They are not." replied Speaker Gully; "they are entirely out of order."
Most of the members supposed Dr. Tanner would succumb to this rebuke. The Conservative cheers which greeted the Speaker's declaration, however, seemed to enrage him. With a quick gesture of disdain, he bawled to Mr. Ellis, sole occupant of the treasury bench: "What I wish to know is whether His Royal Highness is going to retire?"

There was no answer. The Speaker put a motion to adjourn, which was formally approved, Dr. Tanner meanwhile gesticulating widently and trying to address the House.

Dead men, the Commissioner says, have been enrolled as laborers, and their names forged to time-checks. Names have been duplicated and houses located where there are vacant lots. The facts are in the possession of Commissioner Kent and in process of preparation for submission to the legal department of the city for prosecution. Efforts Being Made for Their Better

Mrs. Dimmick of Santa Barbara, who is largely interested in philanthropic and re-formatory work, is now making an effort to call afresh the attention of the citizens of Los Angeles to the deplorable condition of Los Angeles to the deplorable condition of the City Jail. The matter has been written up and reported upon again and again; Chief Glass and Capt. Roberts have struggled nobiy with the almost overwheiming difficulties encountered in finding suitable accommodations for the prisoners under their charge, but the situation still remains about as bad as it can be, and the old jail is a disgrace to an enlightened and progressive community.

The 9x14 cell used for confining the female prisoners is an abomination. Three women are now cooped up in the narrow confines of the dark and ill-wentilated room, with no room for exercise and no alternative.

tive other than herding together day and night. Two of these women belong to the scarlet sisterhood, and are hardened criminals, and the third is a young girl of 16, confined on a charge of petty larceny.

The mischievous effects of this association are obvious, but at present there is no help for it.

A narrow corridor runs between the two lines of damp, evil-smelling black holes, which are the cells of the men. The women's cell is at one end, and conversation is practically unrestricted among the prisoners of both sexes.

The jailer does all in his power to keep order, but it is impossible to prevent comparatively free communication.

Chief Glass has again and again called the attention of the authorities to the lack of accommodations in the old jail, and there is great necessity that some step be taken for bettering the condition of things during the eight mooths which must intervene before the building of the new jail. It is to be hoped that some plan can be formulated by which additional room can be procured until the new quariers are ready for occupation.

Chile in return re-ceives commercial advantages.

OF FAR-REACHING IMPORTANCE.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The conclusion of the Chile-Bollvia treaty is said to be of far-reaching importance, particularly to Bollvia, as it makes the latter a Pacific Coast country, after it has been shut inland for ten years. Officials say that when Chile concluded her war against Peru and Bollvia the victors took all the seacoast territory of Bollvia, leaving her land-locked like Switzerland, without an opportunity for commerce by the Pacific, and unable to maintain a navy.

In 1884 a treaty of true was affected between Chile and Bolivia, but the latter did not get back her coast territory. After remaining hemmed in for ten years, Bollvia now gains a Pacific port and a strip of territory. This will enable her to resume commerce by the Pacific without crossing Chilean soil, and it will permit a re-establishment of her navy. Minister Cana of Chile has not been officially advised of the conclusion of the treaty.

COMMERCIAL.

"CARRYING COALS," ETC, It seems—especially to strangers who visit Callfornia—a remarkable thing to find even this State, which produces such immense quantities of fruit, and often finds it difficult to market the same—to find this State using large quantities of imported jams, jellies and preserves. It does not excite so much surprise to find these goods in the stores of Eastern cities, but that they should be brought 3000 miles across the Atlantic, from England and France, where fruits are scarce and dear, and then on an expensive railway trip 3000 miles further, to a section where fruits are sold by the ton, is indeed calculated to excite surprise.

The San Jose grange has been discussing this subject. It appears from statements that were made during this discussion that the fault in this case does not lie entirely with the California fruit men. A San Jose canner gave the following as the result of his experience:

"A few years ago I went into competiwith a European manufacturer on a large order for jams in New York. Several experts were called in and the goods were thoroughly analyzed. The article made by the foreign manufacturer was in almost every case found to be adulterated, while that of the San Jose Fruit-packing Company was found to be perfectly pure. Not-withstanding this fact, and notwithstanding the fact that our price was equally low, the buyer felt obliged to purchase a large proportion of the foreign goods, as his customers were in the habit of using them and he considered it useless to work up a trade on a better article, even though it cost less money. In consequence, after proving that our goods were superior, we only received a small portion of the order. So long as so many of our wealthy American fathers are seeking to provide their daughters with foreign princes, and the rest of the family with foreign jams, we shall have more or less discouragement in introducing the home article. Public sentiment is what must be changed before our producers can stand on an equal footing with before our producers can stand on an equal footing with those of the old country."

This is in line with the practice that has been referred to on several occasions in these columns of giving the preference to articles of foreign manufacture. It is certainly carrying this practice rather far when people will pay out as much or more money for an article that is adulterated rather than give the same or a lower price for a thoroughly that is adulterated rather than give the same or a lower price for a thoroughly pure article of home manufacture. We cannot expect to develop the resources of this great State as they should be developed so long as Californians themselves continue to show indifference in consuming home products. There may be some reason for still importing certain articles which California is not yet prepared to manufacture on terms of equality with Europe or the East, but the idea of paying heavy freight and duty on preserved fruits and the vessels in which they are packed in a State whose people are busily engaged in discussing the best means of disposing of surplus fruit, is certainly an extraordinary condition of affairs.

RIVERA. No organization of fruit men in California has been more successful than that of Los Nietos Walnut Association, which has now been in existence for several seasons, and has always managed to get a good price for the crop. So good a name have the walnuts of this section obtained among Eastern dealers that the association has already received an offer for this season's crop, eithough the nuts have hardly begun to form. This is very creditable, not only to Rivera as a wainut-growing section, but also to the association which has shown such good judgment in handling the crop.

A REMEDY FOR CANKER WORMS. A worm that is known as the cutworm, canker worm or measuring worm has been overruning a large section of Southern California and has made its appearance in the southern part of the city, where it has already done considerable damage in some of the gardens. The following remedy for these worms is given in a pamphiet issued by the Los Angeles County Horticultural Commission:

"The wingless female moths should be prevented from climbing the trees to deposit their eggs in the fall. This can be done by placing a band of stout paper, eight inches wide, around the stem, and smearing it with printers' ink, in which a little castor off has been mixed. The season of oviposition in California is from the beginning of November until the end of December, during which time the bands must be frequently moistened with ink.

"The remedy for the worms is as follows: Spray the infested trees with a pound of paris green to 200 gallons of cold water. To make the paris green more insoluble and thereby prevent injury to the leaves, dissolve six pounds of fresh lime in water and add to the latter solution. Keep the mixture constantly stirred when spraying. The lime should be dissolved at least twelve hours before being added to the solution."

Wholesale Quotations Revised Daily.

LOS ANGELES, May 10, 1895.

While the prices for butter have not changed, a much firmer tone prevails, and next week may see a rise in all grades. Receipts of eggs are less plentiful, and they are now quoted anywhere from 12½ to 14, according to the stocks on hand. Bananas are unchanged. Gooseberfies are quoted at 628 again.

(The following quotations are for average grades of the products mentioned. For an extra choice article a somewhat better price than the highest quoted can usually be obtained, while for a product of decidedly inferior quality the seller will probably have to accept less than the lowest published quotation.)

a week ago indicated the tide of trade at the Southwest rising and this week a telegrams confirm it. The South sends to Bradstreet's more encouraging reports than for a long time. Some little gain in demand from either drygoods, plantation supplies, or in collections (which is most significant, is announced by two-thirds of all cities reporting. At the West previous gains are misintained and confidence in an enlarged volume of business increases. At Chicago and St. Louis wholesale dealers report a volume of business larger than last week and than the week a year ago.

Dun's Weekly Review.

NEW YORK, May 10.—R. G. Dun & Company's weekly review of trade, which issues tomorrow, will say that the event of the week is the demoralization of foreign exchange caused by enormous sales of bonds abroad. Besides a sale of $10,000,000 of Manhattan and other railroad bonds through the syndicate, large purchases on foreign account have been recorded for some weeks so that the aggregate probably exceeds $50,000,000 since the sale of governments. Safety for the summer means much for all business and the syndicate deems it so fully assured that it distributes 40 per 'cent. of the money advanced by the associates, which leaves a large amount to stimulate operations in securities and products. The crop prospects also have greatly improved and this is of still higher importance as it will do much to determine the character and volume of all business after summer uncertainties are over. In addition, business is reviving, although the gain in the industries is retarded by many strikes. Sales of wheat for the week have been $4,000,000 bushels, against $5,000,000 the yeevious week, and $1,000,000 bless,

Enquirer, says, speaking of Redlands:

"The counties south of Tehachepi are full of 'wonder towns,' each claiming to surpass the rest, but the really most remarkable municipal product is the little city of Redlands, which is eight years old and has 5000 inhabitants. Its area is seventeen equare miles, which includes, in addition to the comparatively small area occupied by the business quarter, a vast extent of fruit orchards. It is a Southern Cailfornia idea that agricultural land can just as well be under city government as ground devoted to business blocks or residences, and in Redlands the plan does not work badly.

AN ARTILLERY DUEL.

The Times prints this morning a full and carefully-compiled synopsis of a work that for the past year has attracted, and is still-attracting, much attention. It is entitled "Coin's Financial School," and purports to be a series of lectures on the silver question, delivered by a Chicago youth from the standpoint of the bimetallist. It might, perhaps, be more correct to say from the standpoint of the silver metallist, inasmuch as the author of the lectures insists that Congress originally made silver the unit of value, and that, it being "the people's money," it should be established as the unit of value today. The (which appeared in 1894,) is cleverly written, and the arguments are marshaled in a "fetching" manner. There is also printed today, as representing the other side of this financial question, the criticisms of Horace White, editor of the New York Evening Post, and which, from the standpoint of gold-standard men, are even more forcible in style and argument than are the lectures of the young silver advocate. In fact, Mr. White fires heavy argumentative guns, and fires them point blank, raking "the other fellow" fore and aft, not to say from stem to stern.

bonds the San Francisco Bulletin says:

"The people of Los Angelee have voted on the bond proposition with their usual good judgment. They voted aye on the proposition to bond the city for $30,000 to procure land for headworks for a water system, and on the proposition to raise $40,000 in bonds for a new jasi; and they voted no on the proposition to issue $200,000 of bonds for a park, a museum and a public dibrary. This is an example which San Francisco may study to advantage.

"Los Angeles teaches us that there is a middle course between the two opinions The whole constitutes a most interesting compilation on a subject of the greates interest, and will afford interest and pos sibly profit to every reader. Only the fire portion of Mr. White's criticism is published in this Issue; the remaining portions will be published in The Times to

A BAD MESS.

City Attorney Dunn informed the Coun cil yesterday that the refunding voted at the recent election were not legal and that Street. Wykes & Co., the New York firm whose bid secured them, had refused to take the bonds because of their invalidity.

This is a bad state of affairs. The city in disposing of these refunding bonds, supposably in accordance with the forms of law, secured excellent, terms, which would have yielded a premium of some $20,000 over and above the face of the refusal of Street, Wykes & Co. to take the bonds will probably, as the appears at present, cause the city to lost this premium. However, the refusal is perfectly proper, for the city could not afford to have spurious or doubtful bonds itstanding any more than Street, Wyke & Co. could afford to hold such bonds.

The matter is so much involved at pres just what course offers the shortest way out of the dilemma. All the trouble seem ment of a new law by the Legislature, at its recent session, materially changing the node of refunding bonds of municipalities.

This law, so nearly as can be gleaned from a cursory perusal of its involved biguous sentences, directs that the council, by a four-fifths vote, may provide for refunding, without submitting the question to the people at all; also that the new bonds must be tendered first of all to the holders of the bonds which it is red to refund. If the holders of the old bonds are willing to exchange them for new ones, the exchange is to be mably at par, though the law is singularly and awkwardly silent on this point If the holders refuse to exchange, and will deposit their bonds for redemption in some reliable depository, new bonds may be sold to the highest bidder in suffic quantity to pay off the old bonds. But suppose the old bonds have not matured and the holder refuses to accept new bonds or to deposit the old bonds for redempwhat then? The new law appear to be silent on this important point, ference is that the matter must be left to an inscrutable providence.

"This is the best-built small city I were saw, was the exclamation of more than one member of the Press Association who visited Redlands a few weeks ago, and the surprise expressed was justified, for every building in the business quanter is of brick; more than that, most of the structures are two or more stories high, and possess some architectural pretending. Even the streets are paved with brick, and, what is more remarkable, they are kept clean. The cleanest street in Oakland would be filthy by comparison." At first thought it would seem that the City Attorney was inexcusably derelict in not knowing the law, so as to have avoided the unnecessary trouble and exof holding an election, which was of no binding effect or validity as affecting the refunding question. But his explanation of this matter relieves him in part, if not altogether, from blame. The new law wa not approved by Gov. Budd until March 27, and the laws enacted by the Legislature were not printed officially until some time afterward. The first steps were taken by the Council toward the refunding-bond election on March 25, two days before the reached here in time to have prevented the farce of an election.

afterward. The first steps were taken by the Council toward the refunding-bond election on March 25, two days before the act changing the procedure of refunding became a law. Still, it would seem as if some inkiling of the new law should have reached here in time to have prevented the farce of an election.

All other questions aside, the city is now confronted by a condition which is much worse than a theory. It will not only lose the $20,000 premium, but the expenses of the election and all other expenses incurred in the refunding scheme. There is apparently nothing left to do but to go over the ground again, proceeding in accordance with the new law—which appears to be a half-baked, blundering piece of so-called legislation, to say the least. The fact—if it be a fact—that the city is astopped from selling its refunding fonds is the open market to the

"WRITE-UPS," PAID AND OTHER-

In the course of an editorial in the Sac-ramento Record-Union praising the San Francisco Call for its enterprise under the new management, and especially for the makiner in which it is "writing up" the solid industries of the State—which praise is fully deserved—the Record-Union says: "Until the Call established the precede writing up gratuitously the attractions red by the various interior points, the "little joker" in the law, which did not get there by mistake. It is another illus-of writing up gratuitously the attractions offered by the various interior points, the San Francisco press did nothing in this relation without ample pay. We have personal cognizance of an instance where a San Francisco journal charged a town in the Sacramento Valley $1500 per page to describe its location, surroundings and commercial advantages. It is 'the testimony of the people of the village that they never heard from the publication; that it did not induce a single inquiry concerning their locality.

"The instinct for growth is so strong in new communities that a vast amount of money is always obtainable for the purposes of inducing immigration. Eastern publications have reaped a rich harvest out of this disposition. The New York Sunsent an agent to California instructed to give the State a general write-up for found it impracticable to secure a consensus of action concerning the State. It did succeed in securing write-ups of a few localities. The metropolitan press, both daily and weekly, have for the past twenty years found the write-up industry a prolific source of sprofit. The new management of the Cali placed its columns at the disposal of enterprising localities in the State free, and for the first time, therefore, ment of the Call placed its columns at the disposal of enterprising localities in the State free, and for the first time, therefore, in the history of journalism in this State the metropolitan press has manifested a laudable disposition to promote the growth and prosperity of the territory supporting the city in which these publications are published.

"As the originator of the liberal policy, the Call deserves well at the hands of the Call deserves well at the hands of the ple of the Pacific Coast." The criticism of the Record-Union on this system of paid 'write-ups' is fully deserved. It is, indeed, astonishing that intelligent communities such as those which are found in California should per-mit themselves to be bled in such an outrageous manner for so-called descriptive matter, for which they pay a high price per line to outside journals-sometimes lubious circulation and influence-which have no interest whatever in the prosperity and progress of the section that they pre tend to describe, while at the same time the local journal, which labors year in and year out to advance the interests of munity in which it is published, is neglected, and frequently forced to sus pend for lack of patronage. As we have remarked, the criticism of the Sacramento paper on this objectionable system is thoroughly deserved; but The limes will not permit a case of modesty to restrain it from mentioning that it was regularly pursuing this policy of issuing scriptive matter regarding the section in which it circulates chiefly, that is to say, of Southern California, and did this 'without money and without price' many before the San Francisco Call ed management. During the past ten rears The Times has issued at least a ozen special numbers, fully describing the ountry south of the Tehachepi and its various principal subdivisions. We do not say this in a spirit of boasting, because we consider it the simple duty as well as the plain interest of every enterprising herself for initial steps toward the creation of a municipal water system. That is judicious. . . But when they are asked to bond the city for improvements which are objects of luxury and embelitshment, such as the establishment of new parks, the erection of fine monuments, the paving of streets, the opening of handsome avenues, the answer will probably be that if the people want these things badly they should pay for them out of the proceeds of a special tax—unless, indeed, the prosperity of the city be such that lavish expenditure to beautify it is warranted by the circumstances of its ournal to do such work, but we merely lightened policy which has been adopted the San Francisco Call is by no mes in San Francisco.

CALIFORNIA OLIVE OIL

Charles Stern is about to prove to those who have always claimed that good olive oil could not be produced in this country that they do not know what they are talking about Wis country ing about. His house, Charles Stern & Sons, will shortly receive from California a small consignment of clive oil for the retail trade. This is only a sample of what is to come, but it will show to judges of olive oil that we can turn out a superior article. Mr. Stern does not expect to make maney on California olive oil just at present. His motive for introducing_it is a sentimental one. He wants to be identified with the first production of real clive oil in this country. He says concerning the manufacture of oilve oil: "Although the cost of making clive oil in California now is very great, yet I think the time is not far distant when we shall produce more clive oil in California than is produced in all Europe. I have allowed experts to sample some of this oil, and they say/it is way above the best oil made in Europe. But it is too cosily to be popular af present; in fact, I cannot make it for the market yet, having just enough to let people see what we could do. A quart bottle of this oil will retail for not less than $1.50, and that will only give us our money back. But that oil is the very cream! I think we shall find our best trade among the Italians, for they know what good oil is.

"Ollve trees begin to hear in shout seven with the first production of real olive oil the Italians, for they know what good oil is.

"Olive trees begin to bear in about seven or eight years, and they live ages. They need less care, too, than most fruit-bearing trees. If I were a young man I would like nothing better than to get 10,000 acres of land in the right section of California and start raising olives. At present the great difficulty is in securing olives enough for making oil. There is an immense demand for pickled olives, the fruit selling at from $110 to $120 a ton. For this small consignment of oil I had to order the olives as far back as last November so as to be sure. After a time I think that possibly the price of the best olive oil from California will come down to something like 75 cents a quart bottle, but it will be some years yet."

Mr. Stern intends to surprise the Eastern folks not only with his olive oil, but with raisins of great size and quality. He will return to Los Angeles shortly. He is in excellent health and says business is first-class.

Farmers Oppose the District. Farmers Oppose the District.

As the reports show, the farmers are bitterly opposed to the formation of an irrigation district and will fight it to the bitter end.

N O wonder the trade grows; there is everything to make it grow; larger stocks, better facilities, newer goods, lower prices. Early in the season we bought light; we could hardly tell how the trade would be; lately there has been a strong undercurrent for better business. We have been re-ceiving goods by express, been telegraphing for desirable stuff; every day new goods are coming in; the sales are growing larger, the trade is much larger than it has been for the past three seasons; there has been great gains in every department.

Read, Reflect, Think.

We are selling a corset today for 50c that is the equal of almost any dollar corset in the city; we say almost for the reason some one may have a leader the same as we have; we say this is the best corset that has ever been sold in the city for 50c. We are selling a corset for $1 that has no equal for the money; we are doubling the corset sales; advertising for more business by reducing the profits. A way to advertise.

Muslin Underwear.

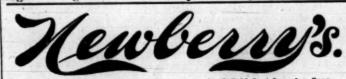

See the improved appearance of the department; look at the new goods and the newer and better styles; go into the merits of the make up; then examine the prices; there is a betterment all along the line; the best line of gowns we have ever carried; the lowest prices and the newer styles. Sun bonnets, infant's caps; all ticketed with the price in plain figures; take a look at the big show cases. New sateen skirts; they look like pongee; about half the price; will wear twice as long; everything in your favor. All new shapes.

Separate Skirts.

A new lot of all-wool serge, black and navy; just in by express. The price is for quick selling, $5. New capes as well; the prices are right; $4 to $10 for a fine lot; all new; cheaper ones if you want them.

Ready Made Duck Suits.

A new lot today; the best thing about them after you consider the style, is the price, $1.25; only a limited quantity at this price and no more after these are sold; better ones, but no better styles for $2 and $2.50. There is an awakening all along the line. Lower prices everywhere.

three of them escaped with suspensions for certain periods.

The case of Officer Shearon was first taken up. Chief Glass stated that influentiation or about the evening of April 10 Shearon said in the presence of other officers that he (Glass) was not fit to be Chief and made other disrespectful remarks about him. He believed that in order to maintain proper discipline in the force it would be necessary to see to it that this sort of thing was not tolerated. Officer Collins, being called as a witness, stated that at the time in question he and Shearon were in front of the police station and while they were in conversation something was said in reference to a movement to remove Chief Glass. Shearon said that Chief Glass ought to be removed and was no good, or smething to that effect. Collins remarked to Shearon at the time that he had nothing to say against the Chief, who had always treated him well.

Shearon said at the time that he was not afraid to express his opinion of the Chief and accused him (Collins) of being alraid to do so.

Officer Lennon, being also called as a rse of the conversation Sheanon) replied that he was satisfied t must be a mistake.

that that must be a mistake.

R. M. Smith, a special policeman in the amploy of Mrs. Childs, testified that on several occasions he had heard Shearon speak disparagingly of the Chief. He had said he was not fit to hold his position and had also applied certain opprobrious pithets to him.

In his own defense. Shearon made a gen-matter of the reports in circulation The matter of the reports in circulation to the effect that members of the police department had made improper remarks about the Councilmen in reference to the bids submitted for the sale to the city of city jall sites was called up.

Mayor Rader said that, as he understood it, a police officer had a right to express his coning in such matters as long as he

it, a police officer had a right to express his opinion in such matters as long as he did it in a respectful way.

Commissioner Pirtle said that he had fully expected that the Council would confer with the Police Commission in reference to the bids for sites. He had supposed that the Council would do so as a matter of courtesy. He had been asked to express his opinion in the matter, as to which location of the ones offered would be the better to accept, but had declined to do so.

"I think we had better deputize some of Mayor jokingly, "so that they cannot talk the laws fearfully and about us."

"I think we had better put them in il," said Commissioner Barham, carrying e joke a little further.

formal instructions were issued to the

No formal instructions were issued to the Chief in reference to the question, but the incident was allowed to pass with the understanding that he was to investigate as to whether any of the members of the police force had made any such statements about the members of the City Council in the matter as charged.

It was incidentally remarked that probably if any of the members of the commission were to speak disrespectfully of the Councilmen they would be scored by the Councilmen they are hanner as the members of the police force had been. The cases of the charges against Mounted Officers Leverich and Maguire were next taken up, and a letter was read which had been addressed to the Chief from Gen. Mansfield, as chairman of the board of trustees of the State Normal School. The letter stated that it had been reported at a meeting of the board that two of the mounted police officers had come to the school building shortly before 11 o'clock at night and and tied their horses, wripped themselves in their blankets, laid down and remained there until after 1 o'clock.

Officer Maguire being heard, stated that he had stopped at the place, but only for about afteen minutes. He was talking with Officer Marden at Grand avenue and Seventh street shortly after the cars stopped running, which was a little after midnight.

mionped running, which was a little after midnight.

Officer Leverich stated, as had Officer Maguire, that he was at the place for only a few minutes. He frankly admitted that the Normal School was not in the territory known as his best. He gave as a reason for stopping at the Normal School that he was very tired from the extra duty performed during the flesta week previous, and halted for a few minutes to rest.

Thomas Farnham, the night watchman at the Normal School, stated that he saw Maguire and Leverich come to the place as had been charged and remain there for about three-quarters of an hour. They were in a reclining cosition on the seats under the porch. They left the place at about 1:20 in the morning.

Police Officer Marden testified that he saw both Maguire and Leverich at the corner of Seventh street and Grand avenue at about fifteen minutes after midnight. He was sure that that was the time for it was shortly after the cable cars had stopped running.

On motion it was finally decided that while Collins was failer. This amount was paid him for his trouble in seeing to it that the dishes were properly returned. After having done this for a time be came to the conclusion that it was not proper thing to do and stopped taking anything from Mr. Saoup for his trouble. About two weeks later than that the charges were preferred against him.

Collins eta'ed that he very much regretted having done as he had, but he did it with honest intent. He did not realize that the rules required that no officer should receive compensation for work outside 2f his duties as a member of the force.

the force Chief Glass stated that Collins had been on the force for a number of years and this was the first time he had violated the rules. He was a good officer. It was possible he had been complained of by more or less people because he did his duty.

By a vote of all the members save Pirtle it was ordered that Collins be suspended for a period of sixty days from May 6.

A petition of Louis McArthur for a restaurant liquor license at No. 422 East First street was referred to the Chief.

THE MEETING OF THE BOARD YES-TERDAY.

TERDAY.

The Board of Public Works was in session nearly all day yesterday, except when when the members were kept busy with other City Council matters. The meeting was comparatively—dull. The following recommendations were agreed upon for presentation at the next meeting of the City Council:

recommendations were agreed upon for presentation at the next meeting of the City Council:

"In the matter of the petition of T. L. Duque and others complaining of bill-boards about Central Park, we recommend that the City Attorney be directed to notify the owners or agents of the property on which the alleged nuisance exists to abate the nuisance complained of.

"We recommend that the City Engineer be directed to present an ordinance of intention to sidewalk and curb Main street between Commercial and Fifth streets to a uniform width of fifteen feet, the curb to be of granite.

Refunding Bonds Invalidated. SCHOOL, HEADWORKS AND JAIL

BONDS NOT AFFECTED. The members of the City Council bor clouded expressions when at an adjourned meeting of that body yesterday afternoon the City Attorney announced that one of the laws fearfully, and wonderfully made by the Legislature at its late session would probably invalidate the $396,000 of refunding bonds just issued. It appears that the law in question is an amendment of the ace approved March 1, 1893, and was approved by the Governor March 27, 1895. The clause of the act which gives rise to the existing situation is contained in the part of sec. I given be-low:

which gives rise to the existing situation is contained in the part of sec. 1 given below:

"Sec. 1. That whenever any incorporated city or town other than cities of the first class in this State has an outstanding indebtedness evidenced by the principal of bonds the common council, board of trustees or other governing body thereof is empowered by a vote of four-fifths of its number to refund the same and issue the bonds of such city or town therefor; provided, that no indebtedness shall be refunded at a higher rate of interest than the original indebtedness bore. Such bonds shall be of the character known as 'serials,' not less than one-fortieth of the principal being payable each year, together with interest due on all sums unpaid. Such bonds may be issued in denominations not to exceed $1000, and not less than $100; principal and interest payable in either gold coin or other lawful money of the United States, as may be expressed in said bonds, either at the office of the treasurer of said city or town, or at the bank designated in said bond, situated in the cities of San Francisco, New York, Boston or Chicago. Interest on said bonds shall not exceed 6 per cent. per annum, payable annually, or semi-annually, as may be expressed in said bonds. Said bonds shall not be disposed of in any manner except in exchange for outstanding bonds for the rechange for outstanding bonds for the officer Leverich stated, as had officer Marguire, that he was at the place for only a few minutes. He frankly admitted that the Normal School was not in the territory known as his best. He gave as a reason for stopping at the Normal School that he was very tired from the extra duty performed during the flesta week previous, and halted for a few minutes to rest.

Thomas Farnham, the night watchman at the Normal School, stated that he saw Maguire and Leverich come to the place as had been charged and remain there for about three-quarters of an hour. They were in a reclining roosition on the seats under the porch. They left the place at about 1:20 in the morning.

Police Officer Marden testified that he saw both Maguire and Leverich at the corner of Seventh street and Grand avenue at about fifteen minutes after mid-night. He was sure that that was the time for it was shortly after the cable cars had stopped running.

On motion it was finally decided that Maguire and Leverich should remain suppended until June 1, and that they should be reduced to the position of foot patrolmen instead of mounted, as heretofore. In the matter of the capital suppended until June 1, and that they should be reduced to the position of foot patrolmen instead of mounted, as heretofore. In the matter of the charges against Officer Collins the testimony showed that he for two or three weeks collected 15 cents from Mr. Shoup, proprietor of that Commopolitan restaurant, for each meal the for two or three weeks collected 15 cents from Mr. Shoup, proprietor of the Commopolitan restaurant, for each meal delivered to a prisoner in the City Jail stitutionality. Eastern attorneys might pass the matter.

"The dispatches received by us from them indicate, however, that they have refused to sustain the legality of the sale and the time has therefore come when the public should know the full status of the matter. It is certainly a very unfortunate thing that a city in refunding an outstanding indebtedness should be compelled by the Legislature to tender its bonds to holders of old bonds at par when the new bonds are really worth more than par.

These old bonds are payable at their face value and accumulated interest in gold coin of the United States, and it certainly seems unjust that the city should be compelled to pay them in other bonds which may, according to the condition of the financial market, be worth more than the coin represented by their face value. "The act referred to seems to have emanated from some Northern statesman and, while it has resulted disastrously for us, it is not strange that our members in a sixty days' session with 2000 bills to consider, should have overlooked this measure. "It is only another example of the next."

"It is only another example of the per-"It is only another example of the pernicious results of short and infrequent bills that come before it. I am not prepared to say certainly what the ultimate result of this matter will be, but fear

we had hoped to gain by the sale to Street, Wykes & Co.

"This act does not in any manner affect for school, jail or headworks bonds, as they were issued under the municipal improvement bond act which is not affected by the amendment."

THE SEQUEL TO THE BYRNES-MUL-KEY SQUABBLE.

In the Township Court yesterday J. K. Mulkey appeared before Justice Young to answer to the charge of having on May last threatened to kill and murder J. P F. Byrnes, a cement contractor, but was discharged, and the case against him dis-missed upon motion of the District At-

when the case was called for hearing at 2 o'clock p.m., the defendant appeared with Messrs. Bearden and Guthrie as his counsel, while Assistant District Attorney Williams appeared on behalf of the State to prosecute. W. R. Bacon, Esq., who had been retained by the informant, asked the court to allow him to participate in the prosecution as associate counsel, but as his remarks in connection therewith tended to reflect upon him, the representative of the District Attorney positively declined to accept the proferred association, and Mr. Bacon, after a statement to the court as its amicus curiae, wrathfully departed.

The first witness called for the prosecution was the informant Byrnes, who testified to the effect that on Sunday last he cution was the informant Byrnes, who tes-tified to the effect that on Sunday last he staked his horse out on a vacant lot on the corner of Bush and Eigheenth streets staked his horse out on a vacant lot on the corner of Bush and Eigheenth streets adjoining Mulkey's property. While he was thus engaged Mulkey came out and proceeded to stake his cow, and ordered Byrnes to vacate the property, claiming that he had paid for the privilege of occupying it. Byrnes made some sarcastic retort to the effect that it was a pity he did not pay for everything he got so readily, and Mulkey then got very much excited and threatened unless he took his horse off for set, his gun and kill him. Witness thereugion went away, but soon afterward sent his boy over for the horse and took it away.

It appeared that the feeling which existed between the parties dated back to March 24 last when a serious neighborhood quarrel occurred between the two families. Over the objection of the defense Byrnes was, allowed to tell his version of the story, which was in effect as follows: Three of his children and those of some of the neighbors while playing on the sidewalk in front of Mulkey's house, were ordered by Mrs. Mulkey to leave. She was sprinkling at the time and, after threatening them without effect, turned the hose upon them. Byrnes's boy there-

She was sprinkling at the time and, after threatening them without effect, turned the hose upon them. Byrnes's boy thereupon picked up and threw some rocks at her, one of which struck her. At this juncture Byrnes appeared on the scene and, picking up the hose, threw it over Mrs. Mulkey's head. After the fuss was all over Mulkey came home and, on learning of the affair, rushed out in the street and challenged Byrnes to come out of his house. He then returned home and, according to the Byrnes story, had a rifle in his hand when next he emerged, with which he proposed to annihilate the whole Byrnes family, but was restrained by his own family and others. Byrnes and hisboy were arrested for disturbing the peace subsequently, and the latter fined by Justice Morrison.

Mrs. Byrnes told a similar story, adding that Mulkey sat on his porch on Sunday last and shook his fist menacingly at the house opposite, which is occupied by her. Upon ascertaining that the whole affair was simply a petty neighborhood quarrel, Mr. Williams moved to dismiss the case, and the court promptly granted the motion, remarking that, as the threat complained of was a conditional one, and the informant had admitted that he was no longer afraid that it would be carried into execution, he had no option in the premises.

Byrnes and his wife left the courtroom in high dudgeon, and, after pouring their woes into the sympathetic ears of Mr. Bacon, besieged the District Attorney's office, in a vain effort to secure another complaint against Mulkey.

The board could by its action neither create a vacancy, nor by anticipation fill one which was to arise in the future during the term of its successor.

The court concludes, therefore, that the attempt of the first board to fill the vacancy of January 2 was in excess of its power, and void, and that the vacancy was properly filled by the existing board.

AN ARTESIA DIVORCE SUIT.

Shaw partially heard the application of Mrs. Sarah J. Davis of Artesia for a decree divorcing her from Lewis Davis upon the grounds of cruelty and failure to provide, but the matter was not concluded and went over until this morning.

Although the parties have been married for over 40 years and are the parencs of four grown sons, the youngest of whom is 17 years of age, the plaintiff snists that she has stood her husband's abuse just as long as she intends to. She alleges that on November 1, 1833, she asked him for "two bits" with which to buy some soap and also intimated that she was out of flour. He refused to give her the money, and when she asked him what he had done with all his money, replied that it was once of her blamed business, and knocked her down. She got up, and, after looking in vain for something with which to strike him, went into the house, Then days later he caused a notice to be published in the Norwalk cowpaper, to the effect that she was hereft of reason, and warning the public not to transact business with her.

The defendant denies all this. The quarrel between the parents has caused a division of the family, three of the sons sidling with their mother, while the fourth and eldest openly arrays himself on his father's side.

The chief bone of contention in the mast ter appears to be the property, all of which the defendant asserts belongs to his son, Tom. The plaintiff, however, injests that half of a 40-acre tract in the Rancho Los Coyotes together to defraud her out of her share of it.

THE WILSON WILL CONTEST.

In the Probate Court yesterday the trial of the contest over the will of the late Mrs. Bridget Wilson, was resumed for the fourth day, fourteen witnesses being examined on behalf of the contestant during the day's session. They were Mrs. C. Ducommun, Mrs. M. Rumpf, Mrs. E. Connolly, August Wohlforth, William Maxey, Mrs. Neilie Blewett, F. A. Gibson, E. R. Syders, Jacob Kuhris, Mrs. A. Weber, J. F. Allen, F. Baker, M. McMahon, W. Leonard and P. S. McAneny.

As on the preceding day the testimony of the witnesses was almost ectirely confined to the relation of incidents fillustrative of Mrs. Wilson's bibulous habits, her horror of wills, and oft-stated intention to leave everything to Joho if she died first, and also of John Wilson's skill as a blacksmith, etc.

At the close of the day's session the case went over until Tuesday next.

judgment being ordered for the plaintiff in the sum of $3000, as prayed.

The defendant entered into an agreement with Potter and a man named Wood, whereby they sold out their business and the goodwill of their delicatessen store on South Spring street, and agreed not to engage in a similar business in this city. The partnership between Potter and Wood was subsequently dissolved, and the Ahrens took advantage of this fact and again opened up a similar business in this city. Potter, who succeeded to the partnership business, thereupon sued Ahrens and his wife for the $3000 liquidated damages named in the original agreement. The defendants claimed that it was necessary for Potter to show that twood had made a special assignment of the particular right to damages claimed under the contract, but the court holds that it was sufficient to show that there was a dissolution of the partnership and that plaintiff was the surviving partner.

The trial of C. R. Wallace, the young laundry agent, charged with having seduced Miss Mamie Cates under promise of marriage at Monrovia on August 15 last, was concluded in Department One yesterday, the defendant being convicted in short order.

Both sides having closed, so far as the taking of festimony was concerned, on Thursday evening, nothing remained yesterday morning but to argue the case and submit it to the jury. This was done, and the jurors retired for deliberation and diner at 12.37 o'clock. When court reconvened at 2 o'clock, the jury had already agreed upon a verdict of guilty, and the defendant was therefore remanded until Monday next, when he will receive sentence.

Frank Totte, who was fined $50 by Judge Clark on April 15 tast for contempt of court in attempting to evade the service of a writ of habeas corpus, obtained his release from the County Jail yesterday by means of habeas corpus proceedings. REORGANIZATION BEGINS TO AS SUME DEFINITE SHAPE

Railroad Company and the Pa-cific Mail Ended—New Pacific Line.

CHICAGO, May 10.—The attempt to re-rganize the Transcontinental Passenger asociation assumed definite form today nd there is on the surface no reason why he efforts should not be successful. All of the lines interested were repres-at the meeting, all announcing thems as being in favor of the reorganization, and no line was able to give any reason why the reorganization should not be wiarted at once. After some discussion it was decided to appoint a commission to draw up a plan of reorganization which is to be submitted to the general meeting not later than May 23. The committee consists of representatives of the Canadian Pacific, Northern Pacific, Great Northern, Union Pacific, Rock Island, Atchison and Southern Pacific.

Whatever the committee agrees on is very sure of adoption. The committee comprises nearly all the lines interested in transcontinental traffic. Yesterday the Western Hnes in solemn conclave decided that after May 19 there would be no more demoralization of rates, whether on account of the homeseckers' excursions or for any other reasons. Now there is every probability that not only will the regular summer tourist rates be slashed right and left, but that regular rates as well will become badly demoralized. The trouble has arisen over a circular of the Burlington road, which offers to agents a commission of $5 per ticket instead of $2 per ticket as agreed upon by the Western lines.

The Burlington's circular related particular commission of $5 per ticket instead of $2 per ticket as agreed upon by the Western lines.

The Burlingten's circular related particularly to Colorado business and today a secret conference of other lines interested in Colorado summer tourist business was held, and the decision reached that unless the Burlington promptly withdraws its ofter of a $5 commission they will reduce the regular summer tourist rate to Colorado points by $5. This row will, without doubt, again postpone the reorganization of the Western lines' passenger association, which is scheduled to begin next week, and there is a strong probability that the demoralization will become widespread. The hotel and stage comcanies, which have a monopoly of the business at Yellowstone Park, announced a material reduction in rates to be charged visitors to the park. Heretofore it has cost $65 to make a tour of the park, but now the rate has been put at $44.50. This rate covers a stay of five and one-half days in the park, hotel expenses and a complete circuit of the park.

NEW YORK, May 10.—It is announced on the authority of the Panama Railroad that all negotiations pending during the last two years between the company and the Pacific Mail Steamship Company are at an end, the Pēnams people believing it to be useless to further prolong the fruitless neetings which have been held from time to time.

They Pull Together.

The Red Bluff (Cal.) Sentinel has some-thing to say about the secret of the suc-cess of Southern California, which should be profitable reading for other localities. The Sentinel says the secret is that "every-body pulls together in Southern California, and there are no kickers." The Sentinel then proceeds:

and there are no kickers." The Sentinei then proceeds:

"The Los Anseles Chamber of Commerce is made up of 900 (just think of it, 900!) business men and capitalists, who have the welfare of their city at heart and everything that will aid to beautify and improve it is pushed to completion. A person may walk for miles on cement sidewalks—wooden walks are unknown, and when the 900 members of the Chamber of Commerce decide upon doing something, they do it. They raised $26,000 for the expenses of the La Fiesta celebration, and they estimate that there were 50,000 visitors who spent at least $500,000 during the week's celebration."

The condemning of alum as an unwholesome ingredient in baking powders by the government authorities as well as by physicians generally, has not deterred manfacturers of such powders from foisting them on an unsuspecting public. Following is a partial list of the alum powders found

"Grant's Bon Bon," "Hotel," "Taylor's One "Taylor's One Spoon," "Climax," "Snowpuff," "Snowball," "Giant," "Milk," "Crown," "Unrivaled," "Silver Star," "Davis' O.K.," "Forest City,"

It is safe to reject all brands sold with a

The Strange Illness of a District

Messenger Boy.

Livingstone Holden, the messenger boy who was seized with a strange tilness about 10:40 pm. Thursday, is still in a precarious condition. He remained in the Receiving Hospital till 5 a.m. yesterday, when he was removed to the home of his parents at No. 669 Philadelphia street. He remained in a stupor for many hours and frequently had violents fits of vomiting. When he finally regained consciousness he clasmed he had been drugged.

The story he tells is that he responded to a cell for a messenger from room 12 Downey Block, and was sent to the Mercantile restaurant for a pitcher of lemonade, which he delivered. It was while passing through a dark heliway, on leaving room 12, he says, that he was seized by some unknown man and forced to drink something from a bottle. What happened afterward he does not remember, but at 10:40 pm. he staggered into the office of the California District Messenger but at 10:40 pm. he staggered into the office of the California District Messenger service at No. 247 North Melin atreet, incoherently muttering something that sounded like, "Come on, boys, we'll kill fem," and swooned away.

While unconscious he had violent convulsions. Dr. Bryant gave him some medicine that greatly relieved him, but the doctor was unable to decide what the had had been drinking. It is surmised by some that the boy went on some cort of a debauch, and voluntarily drank liquor that caused him to get so sick, but he police Patrol-Driver Cox Run Down by Bicycle Rider.

As Patrol-Driver Cox was crossing pring street yesterday, in front of the Los Angeles Theater, a reckless bloyde ider ran him down. The wheel struck rider ran him down. The wheel struck the officer square in the back and threw him on the hard pavement with great force. The wheelman was also thrown, but, as is usual in such cases, he was not hurt, but was up and astride his wheel again in a moment, never stopping to inquire how badly his victim was infured. Fortunately, Mr. Cox had no bones broken, but he says every bone in his body has been adhing since the accident. Mr. Cox is also "aching" to lay hands on the culprit who ran him down and then sneaked away in such a cowardly manner.

SOCIAL F up the greater portion of the day. Deputy District-Attorney James conducted the prosecution and Maj. Horace Bell appeared for the defendant. The courtroom was crowded with an eager throng of spectators among them being defendants in some of the other social-evil cases pending. All the testimony was taken down by a shorthand reporter, and the numerous exceptions of counsel for the defense against the rulings of the court carefully noted. The property specified in the complaint which the defendant was accused of renting was a crib on North Alameda street, occupied by a French woman. The principal point made by the defense was that the woman had been in continuous possession of the premises for more than a year and that the act of renting it to her, if it constituted a misdemeanor, was therefore barred by the statute of limitations. Maj. Bell pointed out various alleged defects in the complaint and made a forcible argument in support of his motion for a dismissal. The court took the matter under advisement.

The list of victims in the so-called crusade for the restriction of the social evil is growing daily. Constable Johnston yesday arrested Blanche Labordie on a warrant charging that she rented cribs from the Shafer Bros. which she sublet to failen women for immoral purposes.

Crops and Markets

The warm weather during the past week has been excellent for all varieties of growing crops, and good reports are received from all sections of Southern California. from all sections of Southern California.
With the exception of apricots, which will be a short crop, the outlook is good for all deciduous fruits, and there is a prospect that fair prices will be realized by the

The navel oranges are now almost all shipped, and seedlings are going forward at a good rate. There are a good many St. Michael oranges for sale on the fruit stands. This variety of orange, which is thin-skinned and very juicy, is growing in popularity with the public, and growers ould do well to include it among the varieties of oranges which they plant in set-

The local market for lemons still cons dull, owing to the fact that so many small growers have been sending in their truit. From the East it is reported that demand for lemons is improving, and hat there is every prospect that prices will advance materially in the near rigure. Lo-cal markets are beginning to receive decid-ious fruits in considerable quantities. Cherries are reaching a price at which people of moderate means can afford to eat few. A few apricots have come in and from now on the receipts of this fruit will ncrease rapidly, from day to day. Among wberries, raspberries, currants and eberries. Loquate are also coming into market more plentifully.

The receipts of new hay have not, so far, had the effect of reducing prices as much as was expected, but it does not look as if quotations could be maintained

Butter and eggs have been a little more been in good demand at current rates.

Reduced Transportation Charges.

Important changes are being made in the transportation of fruit products to the East, and these changes are in the in-terest of the fruit-growers, who have long been urging some reduction in the cost of transportation. As The Times has almentioneds the Southern Pacific Company has made an important reduc-tion in the freight on fruit from local to the place of departure on the overland system. Another important im-provement in the transportation of fruit is substitution of ventilated cars for refrigerator cars. Both the Southern Pa-cific and the Union Pacific will put on ventilated cars for this service by the 1st of July. This will make a reduction of $125 per car for refrigeration, or, in the regate, a saving to the fruit growers f California of more than $500,000. Not only this, but in the case of cher and other tender fruits which may still have to be shipped in refrigerator ion in the cost of such shipment may The Interstate Commerc on has recently made a which is of great importance to California ers. The Truck-farmers' Asso nission that the railroads, constitut ing the Atlantic Coast Dispatch line, and other through lines were charging so orbitant a rate on strawberries to York and other Northern cities that the could not be marketed. After hearing all the evidence, the commission ordered eduction of the refrigeration charge 1 2 cents to 1% cents a quart, leaving the freight charges untouched. This is a on of 32 cents a hundred pounds which foots up heavily by the carload. The commission further decided as follows:

 The railroad companies, and not the owners of the refrigerator cars, furnish the whole service to the shipper, and there is no privity of contract between the carwner and the shipper.

2. It is the duty of the railroad comsafety and preservation of the trains in transit.

3. The companies, being bound by the provisions of sec. 1 of the act to regu-late commerce, shall not permit or collect an excessive or unreasonable charge for

It appears that under this decision the truit-growers ought to be able to secure more liberal charges for the transportation of fruit.

Pull Together. A corespondent of the Fresno Republi-can, writing of the necessity of co-operation among fruit-growers in the marketing of fruit, says that "even wild geese recognize the necessity for organization, and follow some chosen leader." This is very aptly put. It is indeed a wonder that it has taken so long to convince fruit-growers of the necessity that they ild work in harmony, and combine for their mutual advantage. Even are a great many of them who hang back, somewhat disinclined to co-opera-with each other. The benefits of co-opera-tion, when properly conducted are, however, so manifest that it can only be a matter of time until all the im-portant fruit industries in every section of the State have their inions for the shipping and marketing

In commenting upon the low prices that have prevailed for ordinary California oranges of late, owing to the keen competion the part of European growers, Times has frequently expressed the pinion that the time has come when rnia orange growers will have to ex-more care in growing and selecting handicaps the sale of it. There should be a local institute devoted to the dissemination of practical ideas—a school of horticulture, where neighbors may exchange facts relating to fruit culture, give experiments in adaptation of fertilizers, in pruning, and especially the greatest of all—irrigation, for therein the most careful orchardist may unmake a crop with all other points strictly favorable. We believe our orange growers fall in the line of conference upon local conditions and local experience more than in any other. They read carefully a great deal of matter relating to their trade, but much of it lacks the essential of local adaptation.

"The Pomotropic has often found fault with our citrus fairs, because they are devoted to the stimulation of more orange-growing instead of better. We have asked that a special department be established in these fairs where the practical side of orange-culture could be shown and practical ideas be heard, tending to produce more unifrom and better fruit. To be sure, the fine displays are a stimulation to better effort, but where are the ideas to be found of how to make $\frac{1}{2}$. Only a few, comparatively, take part in these exhibitions, and all are aware that the fruit shown is most carefully selected and in little wise represents the orchards from whence it came. Excellence in the whole orchard and in all the orchards is what we need, both for the reputation it gives the valley and in the economy, it engenders in the handling of the fruit through the now prevalent co-operative plan. We protect the individual from contamination from his markets by a neighbor's insect pesits, why not protect him from the contamination of his markets by a neighbor's loverily culture of the fruit? This can only be done by persuading him that better horticultural hygienics is the only salvation of the business, and that he should know in advance that his association on his broker cannot get a price for his fruit if it measly and unmarketable. A general awakening along this time is the p

Reports from the East are to the effect that beans will be one of the products that are going to bring good prices this year. The Eastern bean-eaters have come to rely very largely upon Southern California for their beans. Hitherto the cultivation of this crop in Southern California has been chiefly confined to the two counties of Ventura and Santa Barbara, but there seems to be no reason why they should not be raised equally well in some sections of the five other counties. The growing of beans does not require any greater amount of skill and experience is needed in the cultivation of ordinary farm products.

As the climate is rainless from planting-time to harvest, beans that require pole or trellis to prevent mildew in the East can be allowed to cover the ground here, and can be gathered and cured without trouble or damage. Those who have raised a crop of beans in localities where rains are common, and have gone over the field two or three times, pulling those ripe by hand, then carefully stacked them in little heaps in the field, and been obliged to spread them out to dry two or three times before they could be housed, and then found after they were threshed that so many were mouldy that they must be hand-ploked to be merchantable, would best realize these conditions. Beans are planted in April, as soon as signs of frost are over, upon land that has been very thoroughly prepared. They are cultivated so often that no weed has a chance to grow until the vines shade the ground and impede cultivation. Pretty soon the field will be a complete mat. When they are ripe, they are gone over with a bean cut-ter that runs two rows at a time and cuts the tap root. This can be arranged by having a couple of knives properly ad-justed to take the place of the outside teeth of the one-horse cultivator. After the tap roots have been cut, the beans are raked into windows, allowed to cure, then hauled to the machine and easily threshed. As there are no summer rains, farmers have no trouble in guarding against mouldy beans. Crops have been known to pay more than the price of the land they grew in. But on the average $40 to $60 net proceeds per acre is considered a fairly satisfactory yield of beans. The lima bean, navy white and red beaus, from which Spanish and Mexican people make their highly-relished frijoles, are the principal varieties grown for exthe principal varieties grown for ex-port. They are in large demand at every seaport, as well as at the mining and lumber camps. Many varieties of string beans are raised for the local market and for canning, but that is a separate business, coming more properly under the head of vegetable or truck farms. The successful machine for threshing beans is a California specialty.

A. J. Cook, of Claremont.

The paper is too lengthy to be printed in full in these columns. The following are the conclusions arrived at by Mr. Cook:

First—Generally the pericarp of fruit and vegetables is not immediately affected by cross-pollimation.

Second—There are a few cases where there has been obvious and immediate effect of cross-pollination, enough exceptions surely to prove the above rule.

Third—The Washington navel, and probably the Australian navel has no polten developed in the anthers, or so little that practically there is none.

Fourth—The navel orange, the some vegetables, cucurbits, egg, plants, etc., fruits without pollen, but 'always bear seedless fluit or fruit with small abortive imperfect seeds. These are plant examples of parthenogenesis.

Fifth—It seem certain that no plant can bear seeds unless the flowers are politicated.

Sixth—There is reason to believe that the development as to size and flavor. Navel oranges, then, unlike most fruit, should be planted dn'a solid block, and it is all the better if no other variety is near by. Eighth—It seems probable that the stigma of the navel is slow to take any pollen, else we would have more crosspolination and more navels with seeds. Ninth—As the navel is correlated with seedlessness and consequent excellence, we may be even more pleased with the characteristic mark of the navel orange, and rejoice that our favorite fruit has so appropriate a name; which is significant as asign of surpassing excellence, especially as this orange par excellence can be grown nowhere else to the marvelous perfection which marks its production in our own rich, sunny Southern California.

Tenth—If it be true, as some affirm, that the Washington navel in some sections of Southern California is of surpassing excellence; if the fruit, as is often asserted, is better in some orchards than in others even in the same neighborhood, and if, as some believe, it is superior in parts of the same orchard, then these facts are to be explained not by pollination, but by differences of soil, possibly aided by more favorable climate in case of different sections. Everywhere in the organic world, among animals as well as plants, high development and superior excellence are accompanied with greater impressibility, censibility and susceptibility to changes through environment. And so the unapproachable mavel orange is quick to feel the hand of environments and quick to respod to the most delicate influence that may look to its deterioration or to its betterment.

A Fruit-buyer's Opinion. The address delivered by Horace Day of the firm of Sgobel & Day of New York, at the Chamber of Commerce on Wednesd which was reported in The Times

Thursday, was an interesting one, and will be referred to at length in this department next week.

The Russian Thistle.

The Russian Thistle.

(N. B. Leckonby in the Bakersfield Californian:) In view of the fact that Kern county is dependent largely upon agriculture and that that industry is threatened by the invasion of the Russian thistle, it behooves use to use all necessary means to keep it out of this section. The county should be carefully looked over and if any be found a flock of sheep should be pastured on the weeds till all are destroyed. This method is very effective while the plants are young, but of no avail when the thorns develop.

All trails from Antslope Valley need careful examination, also along the sides of railroads. The danger of the plants getting a start is not so much in cultivated fields as in the wild, uncultivated parts. One dollar spent in prevention will do more good than thousands after it is crabilished. I have specimens growing which will be scalded and dried as soon as large enough, when every farmer, ditchtender and others ought to become familiar with it and report its appearance to those in charge. I would suggest that a circular be cent to every one in the county, describing and calling attention to the weed. Immediate action is necessary to work to the best advantage, without which we shall not be able to keep it out. There is a State law empowering the Supervisors to meet just such an emergency, which places the welfare of the people in their hands in this particular.

LIVE STOCK

No animal can live wholly on food that too concentrated nutrition. When meal is given some coarser feed must be cut up and mixed with it to make the ration bulky enough for the gastric juice to properly act upon it. What this coarser material shall be does not much matter, provided it is something that is itself digestible. Cut hay mixed with corn meal is commonly given for horses, but for cows cut straw and corn stalks is generally substituted for the hay what it has is mainly carbonaceous. it is for that fact the better fitted to mix with linseed and cotton-seed meal that have a large excess of the nitrogen ous elements of nutrition

Early Maturity of Stock. Early Maturity of Stock.

(American Cultivator.) All our domestic animals come to maturity much earlier than used to be the case. The regular supply of food in sufficient quantities brings all animals to the breeding age much earlier than they would come when in a wild state and dependent wholly on their own, exertions. As the breeding is earlier there is less vitality in the progency and a much greater susceptibility to disease. In the wild state, too, the weakings are killed off by exposures to the weather from which animals that are domesticated are carefully shielded. Thus in one case only the most vigorous survive to perpetuate their kind, while in the other the progeny is most vigorous survive to perpetuate their kind, while in the other the progeny is from both the weak and strong, and therekind, while in the other the progeny is from both the weak and strong, and therefore possesses a smaller degree of constitutional vigor. Sheltering too warmly promotes early breeding, and therefore tends to diminish size and health. In the Channel Islands cattle this early breeding and early maturity has run to excess. It is the stock that has been pushed too rapidly and forced to premature breeding that now suffers most from tuberculosis. One of the beat ways to check this disease is to reverse this process. Helfers of the small breeds should be well into their third year before being allowed to drop a calf, and in the meantime they ought not to be fed so as to induce a tendency to fatten. It is too great a burden to put on a young helfer, itself not half grown, to set it to growing a calf while itself needing all it can digest to maintain its own growth.

There are but a few, comparatively, in this country who devote their attention exclusively to poultry, though there is room for thousands of poultry farms There is no reason why a fair income may not be derived in the neighborhoo of any town or city in the poultry bus ness. It requires some capital to begin with, but less than almost any other un-dertaking, and the returns begin almost at alifornia orange growers will have to excellent more care in growing and eelecting feet of cross-pollination, enough exceptions surely to prove the above rule.

Third—The Washington navel, and probable for granted that only the finer adds of oranges will be able to find a sady and remunerative market. There exists to many orange groves in Souther California which are poorly cultivated, in half irrigated, and never fumigated or sprayed. Such fruit should not be lowed to leave the State. If it is shipped, there is little probability that the grow-or will realize any profit from it. On this subject the Azusa Pomotropie has the following sensible remarks:

"Co-operation in experience and experimentation, division of practical ideas refule production of orates as a necessary as co-operation in make in the individual may produce, the repair of the successful production of orates as a necessary as co-operation in make in the individual may produce, the repair of the successful production of orates as a necessary as co-operation in the navel orange is very desirable, for, no matter how choice as the individual may produce, the repair of the successful production of orates as a necessary as co-operation in the navel orange is very desirable, for, no matter how choice as the individual may produce, the repair of the case that non-pollination, and probable the Azusa Pomotro of the Atlantic Duck farm. Specoch. N. Y., raised about 44 tons of ducks the past year. To think of that amount of carcasses going into market one would almost venture the idea that there was a regular glut, but when it is known that about 80,000 ducklings are annually market one was plants, etc., fruits with small abortive imperfect seeds. These are plant examples of parthenogenesis.

Fifth—It seem certain that no plant can be a plant sample to the Allantic Duck farm. Specoch. N. Y., raised about 44 tons of ducks the past year. To think of that amount of carcasses going into market one would almost venture the idea that there was a regular glut, but w out of the mouth and they were ready for the pickers.

In the picker room were busily engaged a lot of women and girls who took charge of the birds from the time the executioner cleaned off the blood. Each picker dipped her own bird in the stalding water, removed the rough feathers, then gave another dip in water, cleaning with a sponge, and the final work of removing what pinfeathers still remained. From the picker they went into cooling vats, winding up, when thoroughly frozen, by being packed in barrels with cracked ice.

The price of butter and cheese for the enter the field vigorously for the better-ment of quality. To do this will cost no moneyed outlay, but simply the observance of common sanitation and clean-liness. Make all country milk worthy of its appellation as "pure milk."

Diarrhoss in Calves.

(American Cultivator:) A. A. Wallace, Mariborough, N. H.: Your fattening calves have perhaps been overfed or have possibly been given milk that is cold. This will induce diarrhoea, which once begun is very difficult to stop. All the cases of diarrhoea that we have treated have been cured by mixing a tablespoonful of fine wheat flour with a small amount of water and cooking it until the flour was scorched. This is then put in the mess of milk and fed warm. But there is another kind of diarrhoea that begins when the calf is born and continues until it results in the death of the animal. The diarrhoea has given much trouble to Western dairymen. It is contagious and is undoubtedly propagated by germs. We do not know that any cure for this diarrhoea has been discovered. It probably needs antispetics. Keep the culves that have diarrhoea by themselves, and throw diluted carboke acid on the bedding to destroy germs that may have passed away with the excrement. But for its virulent poisonous qualities a dilution of corrosive sublimate would be a better antisspite than the carbolic acid. If the calf is tied, a weak solution of corrosive sublimate may be thrown on the wet and soiled bedding behind it. The best harmless antiseptic is glycozone, a compound of glycerine and ozone. A table-spoonful in a cup of warm water will destroy germs in the stomach. The injection of a similar dose in the rectum is also advisable. It may be that the diarrhoea is due to the milk. It will be well to make a change of diet, preparing a warm porrige of sifted oat meal cooked in hot water to which is added a spoonful of linseed meal. This, like all other food for calves, should be fed warm. After calves get used to this diet they will fatten on it as well as on cow's milk. Diarrhoea in Calves.

Corn is not raised to a so great an ex-ent in California as in most Eastern States, because, as a rule, more profitable crops can be raised. Horees and cawa are occasionally killed when allowed to feed too freely in patches where the black fungus growth, which sometimes appears upon the corn grown along the coast where there is much dampness. It is black, dusty stuff, similar to the ergot of rye, and is poisonous. Ears showing it should be removed before stock is turned into the field. It is seldom seen in the more arid interior valleys.

Flax to Fall Back On.

Flax to Fall Back On.

(Placer Republican:) The farmer who has been plodding along year after year in the same furrow, raising a little wheat and hay and attempting to live off its proceeds, and at the end of the year finds himself deeper in debt, had better be looking about him to discover something that be can produce from the soil which will yield him a living. What can he do to assure himself that after harvest he will have a little something for his labor? We answer: "A diversity of crop."

Instead of planting all your acree in orchard, instead of sowing all wheat, try something new; iry the culture of flax, which is handled exactly as wheat. Then, if prices are low on wheat, and you derive nothing for your fruit, which has been the case the past year, you still have the flax to fall back upon, and every pound of flax that can be raised for the next ten years will bring you $2.25 per hundred. What quantity can I raise to the acre? you will ask. The lowest estimate given by the men who have thoroughly tested this industry is 1200 pounds, or $27 to the acre. It can be grewn on any soil that will produce wheat, is harvested the same as wheat, and, as we stated above, is sure of bringing in a return.

Poor Blood and Nerves Out of Order---Take Paines Celery Compound.

Among all the structures that make up the human body, the nerves have been until receasily the least understood.

The role of the nerves in the digestion and assimilation of food is a highly important one. The question whether the food shall nourish or become a mere load upon the system is a question of nerve force.

Neglect to satisfy the demands made by the nervous system carries heavy penalties. When this nervous force is exhausted the digestive processes are obstructed, the body is weakened and nains of neuralgia, indigestion, rheumatism, invade its parts. During repose the nerves and great nerve centers feed upon the nutritive material that is stored in the blood and tissues. It is when this supply of nourishment is prompt and abundant that the nervous system is able to recuperate, but when the system has become too tired to appropriate sufficient nourishment and the nervous system is able to recuperate, but when the system has become too tired to a suppropriate sufficient nourishment and the nervous system is able to recuperate, but when the system has become too tired to a suppropriate sufficient nourishment and the nervost so shaky to get the rest they need, the best of all blood purifiers, nerve foods, and nerve regulators, Paine's Celery Compound has brought Paine's Celery Compound from nervous weakness to shousands of tired women, "und down" men, and sickly children. It makes them able to sleep soundly, to digest their food perfectly, and to win back health and strength. The tired brain and nerves are rebuilt and their wasted parts repaired during sleep, and where nervoustees, irritability, and inadequate nutrition of the nerve centers do not permit sufficient sleep, nervous pros-

DEATH FROM AN ACCIDENTAL

Fortnightly Lecture—Readings
From Shakespeare — Fraternal Aid Society—Vacant Pastorate—Army Worm.

PASADENA, May 10.—(Special Core-pondence.) Dr. O. T. Maxson, for about a car a resident of Pasadena, died at his some on Adella avenue Thursday evening rom an overdose of morphine taken to re-leve pain. Dr. Maxson has been in poor sealth for a long time, and it was on this account that he gave up his practice, in count that he gave up his practice in ivariston, Ill., and sought to recuperate ere. Catherine L. Steiner, the house-eeper of the Maxson family, who has been with them since childhood, was the only which the doctor lost his life. She was alone in the house with him, his wife and daughter baving accompanied some depart-ing friends to the train. After the guests daughter baving accompanied some departing friends to the train. After the guests had left the house, the old gentleman complained of feeling ill and took from his medicine case a white powder which he mixed with water and drank. He then went out into the krounds and walked about for a short time, but soon returned, and Miss Steiner, observing that he walked as though exceedingly glddy, assisted him to a chair. Knowing that Dr. Maxson had been in the habit of taking hypodermic injections of the drug to quiet pain, Miss Steiner asked him if he had taken morphine, and he answered in the negative. He became rapidly worse, and she sant for Dr. Turner. Every effort was made to restore the patient to consciousness, but without effect. At the loquest Dr. Turner also made a statement of the condition in which he found the patient, the means taken for his restoration, and his death from the action of the drug. As no motive is known that would leave his friends to infer suicide, they are convinced that the overdose was accidental, and that the state of Dr. Maxson's health rendered him exceptionally susceptible to the til effects of the morphine. The remains will be taken to Evanston, Ill., for interment.

The fourteenth of, the fortnightly lectures given under the auspices of the Universalist Church occurred in the suditorium of the church Thursday evening, the subject being "Architecture." and the lecturer being Charles S. Greene, one of Pasadena's young architects. It was a thoughtful and interesting address, illustrated by drawing of the great models of antiquity and modern times, and by crayon whether of the distinctive features of the various styles of architecture. The classic, of course, came in for a large share-of attention, but the modern was not neglected. American architecture and particularly the vertical of the moresque, as seen in some of the noblest domestic architecture of Southern California, was treated with intelligent and stristic appreciation. The subject is appropose to a growing community like Pasadena, where it merits the careful attention of the home-maker, for the building of a beautiful city, not alone of palatial houses, but of humbler dwellings, is possible when the requirements of artistic architecture are understood and people cone to believe that a house is something more than so much lumber or brick put together in such a form as to furnish storage for their goods and shelter from the elements.

READINGS FROM SHAKESPEARE.
The Boniface reading Thursday night at Throop University was an excellent entertainment, selections being given from "Dombey and Son." "Hamlet," "Othello," and other of Shakespeare's plays. Mr. Boniface is particularly happy in his renditions from Dickens, and his versatility is best illustrated by the transition from that guthor to the other Shakespeare of the English tongue. He seems equally at home with Dickens, in the cottage, and with Shakespeare in the palace, and his readings are a rare treat. READINGS FROM SHAKESPEARE.

FRATERNAL BOCIAL There was a social given in G.A.R. Hall Thursday evening by the Fraternai, Aid Society, which was largely attended. A statement of the aims and objects of the organization was made by A. L. Petrie, and this was followed by an entertaining programme. Miss Haskell regdered a piano solo, Miss Mason gave a recitation, Miss Forbes a colo, Mrs. Minier a recitation. Mrs. Fordyce Grimnell's an original Miss Forbes a solo, Mrs. Minier a recuta-tion, Mrs. Fordyce Grinnell an original poem. A duet by Misses Petrle and Shaw was followed by an original poem by Mrs. Emily Webb, and a recitation by Miss. Emily Webb, and a recitation by Miss. Porter. The programme was closed by a tableaux representing the "Babes in the Wood," typified by two genclemen ar-rayed in the "Weary Wilkie" and "Wan-dering Walker" costume, who reclimed un-der a pile of underbrush. Extreshments and sociability were the next in order. VACANT PASTORATE.

VACANT PASTORATE. The trustees of the Universalist Church lave received the formal resignation of tev. Florence E. Kollock, dated from Rev. Florence E. Kollock, dated from Peabody, Kan. It is not at present known definitely whether Dr. Hall can be prevailed upon to accept the viscant pastorate, as he is laboring under the impression that the coet of living here is greater than dhat in the Bast. It may be, however, that the trustees will be able to disabuse his mind of the erroneous impression, and induce him to accept the charge.

Yet it is known how to treat these insects, but against the army worm all ordinary methods seem unavailing. SANTA ANA BREVITIES.

There was an interesting meeting of insurance men before a committee of the City School Board Thursday evening in the City Hall. Local agents, State agents and general agents were present, and as the policies to be written amounted to about 228,000 there was a generally lively time before the offers were all in. The offer of the Horse and Phoenix companies, Mal. H. T. Matthews and Granville Spurgeon of this city hoal agents, and Maj. Bonsall of Los Angeles general agent, was finally accepted. The School Board, by canceling the old policies and having them rewritten under the present cut rate, get new policies for three years free and $38.20 back pay.

REDLANDS.

REDLANDS, May 19.—(Special Correspondence.) On the 18th inst. the question of issuing bonds in the sum of $4000 to the purpose of providing increased school facilities will come before the electors of the Lugonia school district. Unquestionably within two years the school districts within the city will be consolidated, and when that takes place the expense of the extra school accommodations, which will be necessary and compulsory, will be borne equally by taxation upon the whole properly of the city. That being the case, in the minds of those who take a conservative view of it, it would be a mistake fot the Lugonia people to burden themselves with a debt which at best would be only a temporary expediency.

RIVERSIDE, May 10.—(Special Correspondence.) Mr. Durham, manager of the Mercantile Detective Agency of R. G. Dun & Co. at Los Angeles, having said in a circular letter to the press of Southern California, under date of May 9, that the crop of apricots promised to be light, in some parts failing to one-fifth of the usual yield, particular inquiry has been made from parties well posted in all portions of this county and the resume of the information is that there never has been a promise of a heavier crop of apricots than the present season. There is no exception to this, and the fruit is so far advanced that it is hardly probable that anything can occur which will cut the crop short. The cutworms were doing some little damage during the late cool weather, but no further danger is how feared from them since the hot weather has set in.

The members of the fire department met in annual session Thursday evening and elected the following officers: George F. Ward, chief; S. L. Wright, first assistant; Welliam C. Members of the County Board of Trate and a number of other citizens are interesting themselves in having trees planted along the new county boulevard, or Box Springs road, and a committee of two, Secretary Correll and Priestly Hall, drove over the boulevard Thursday afternoon to investigate the chances of a water supply and estimate the cost of the proposed improvements. It is thought that water can be piped along the course cheaper than to hall water for irrigating the trees.

Howling Over the Tax Levy-Universalists-Park Matters

SAN DIEGO, May 10 .- (Special Corre-SAN DIFIGO, May 10.—(Special Correspondence). City tax rate, B.25 per $100. Score one for the new Common Council. This highest possible tax rate is recommended by the Committee of Ways and Means. The tax-payers are mad. They notice that it is stated by the wily Councillmen that it is deemed wise to leave a rather liberal amount in the general appropriation fund to provide for a special election in case the water question reaches such a happy stage. Some people think it might be desirable to turn the entire city over to the tender mercies of the ever-present water question. It is dent that the water sharks are not yet. Maybe some of these are not yet. Maybe some of these sharks will find a way by which to run up the tax rate to $2 per $100 next year. Owing to find a way by which to run up the tax rate to $2 per $100 next year. Owing to the shortage of tax funds the library must go without a new catalogue; the park cannot be improved and a number of other necessary things must be left undone. Yet it is noticed that the Council recently voted "Little Billee" Carlson $100 to go on a railroad junketing trip to San Francisco. It is persinently pointed out that not $1000 worth of water is used annually by the city in putting out fires, yet the greedy water company gets $1800, or practically $1700 more than it deserves. And even then its hydrants have been reported full of mud when needed to put out fires. The wrath of San Diego tax-payers is not to be compared in intensity with that of a wet hen.

The State convention of Universalists was closed here on Thursday. Steps were taken to raise $20,000 and thereby secure $20,000 provided by the will of Father Throop. At any rate they do not want this city to cooperate with Los Angeles in park surveying because they are sure Los Angeles has "ulterior" motives in suggesting co-operation. Of such is the mossback population down this way. Women, get ye to a numery.

Before they can operate it they will have to remove a haystack that has been built upon the track and well fonced in right in the city, and when they reach sheen built upon they will have to cut another line or two of back wire focae to get through. This will precipitate trouble for the young rall-road magnates, but it is hoped the law will stand by them for the road is a great convenience to the people who cannot afford to hire a carriage every time they wish to get out of the city in that direction, it is the poor man's highway and it is hoped that all efforts to keep it closed will be unzuccessful.

I neglected my bowels many years ago until what had been only costiveness became a foul stomach. For years I tried dector after dector with no good results. I became a complaining, disagreeable dyspeptic, a trial to my friends and a nuisance to myself. About this time I bought a bottle of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla and began to take it, and after about three months I was a new man. This was about three years ago, but I continue to take it now once in a while to keep the system in good working order and to regulate the bowels. HENRY J. M'ARALAN.

A BRITISH SOLDIER'S WIDOW Mrs. Harriet Tytler's Experiences in East India.

Among the strangers now sojourning in this city is Mrs. Harriet Tytler, the widow of Col. Robert Tytler, distinguished in the Sepoy mutiny which turned India into a land of blood and mourning in the year a land of blood and mourning in the year 1857. Mrs. Tytler was born in India sixty-six years ago, and has lived there all her life. She comes of a family of soldiers, her grandfather having been a British officer who served under Clive at the taking of Seringapatam. Mrs. Tytler is the daughter of an English officer and the widow of another, and was through all the terrible scenes of the great mutiny. She lived with her husband about three miles out of Delhi at the time of the outbreak, and was in the city during all the horrors of the siege and massacre being the only Englishwoman who escaped. The Indian regiment under the command of Col. Tytler revolted with the rest, but, owing to the real affection of the men for their commanding officer, his own life and those of his family were spared in the general rising against the English officers.

and those of his family were spared in the general rising against the English officers.

When asked how she escaped from the massacre at Delhi, Mrs. Tytler replied: "By God's goodness and my husband's pluck."

Col. Tytler, with incredible bardihood, managed to get his wife out of the doomed city, and fled through the jungle, encountering hourly dangers from disease, wild beasts and the still more savage natives, and at last reached a place of safety.

Mrs. Tytler is now exhibiting at the Nadeau Hotel a fine display of East Indian cupiosities from the private collection of her distinguished husband and herself during their long stay in India, and are now en route to England to be sold. They were to have been exhibited at the World's Fair, but, through the carelessness of the English officials, space could not be obtained in the Manufactures Building among the other English exhibits.

The Smuggled Diamonds Prove to be Opals.

SANTA BARBARA, May 10.-(Spe Correspondence.) It now transpires that the $10,000 worth of diamonds that in-spector of Customs Johnson (not Forbush) captured, are uncut opals. Two of the prominent jewelers of this place say the stones look like cuttings from a lapidary's establishment.

stones look like cuttings from a lapidary's establishment.
These stones were taken from the value of a man by the name of Reece, a sailor who came to this port in the English bark Duke of Argyil, now in port. Reece is not of the regular crew, having shipped so as to work his passage to this country from Newcastle, South Australia. The supposed amuggier is a good musician and this fact coming to the notice of the leader of the Santa Barbara City Band, he was induced to join that organization, playing Thursday night in the concert given at the Arlington. The stones number between 300 and 400. Reece was inclined to object strenuously to being dispossessed of his minerals, but submitted when he saw it was no life to resist. It is believed that Reece is not what he holds himself out to be and that there is more in his game than appears on the surface. However, the authorities are on the surface. A CONCERT. A CONCERT.

The Santa Barbara City Band under the leadership of Prof. Schuy gave a concert Thursday evening on the Arlington lawn to a very large audience. This band has been in existence a very short time and their proficiency is remarkable. The band rendered, among other airs, one of Sousa's celebrated marches and Mr. Blakely of the Sousa band, publicly compilmented Prof. Schuy for the manner in which the
